

POINT OF CARE ULTRASOUND (PoCUS)

COURSE OVERVIEW

Designed as an introduction to point of care ultrasound for healthcare professionals with little or no experience. This course will build your confidence and ability to perform and interpret ultrasound in a clinical setting. Our expert faculty of emergency physicians and sonographers will provide comprehensive hands-on training in machine operation, image acquisition, and interpretation of common critical care pathologies. By the end of the course, participants will be confident in performing basic ultrasound examinations and integrating ultrasound findings into clinical decision-making.

Pre course learning modules followed by a 1 day intensive hands on workshop where you will be supervised in performing scans on live models. Limited places available and 1:4 hands-on training.
